

at Washington and it is believed he received instructions from the President to go after the big trust.

Six of the thirteen Standard Oil officials have been officially notified that their presence is required here July 6.

Demand of Landis For Trust's Books Causes Comment

The demand of Judge Landis at Chicago that he be given access to the books of the Standard Oil Company before he imposes a fine on the rebels may mean something more than appears.

It is hinted here that he is after even bigger game than money, although he can impose fines amounting to $20,000,000.

The Department of Justice says it knows nothing more of the judge's intention than that he appears anxious to work to the bottom of the case.

It may be that he does not wish to fall into the error that the State of Texas recently made when it imposed a fine of over a million dollars against the Waters-Pierce Company and then discovered that the concern had been sending to the holding company the receipts each day and thus prevented the court from satisfying the judgment.

There is a belief that Judge Landis, if he is successful in getting at the Standard's books, may disclose astounding conditions. Officials here suspect that the Oil trust is connected with about railroad, insurance companies, and other corporations, private as well as public—that it in fact dominates interests closely connected with municipalities, cities, and States.

HOOR OF SIGNING RATE LAW MAY BE ASKED ROOSEVELT

The Interstate Commerce Commission may, in order to settle an important question, have to ask President Roosevelt: "What was the exact hour that you signed the railroad rate bill?"

The trouble arises over ascertaining the life of claims demanding reparation from railroads for overcharges. The law provides that such claims must be filed with the commission within a year of the time that the law went into effect. The rate law originally provided that it should take effect immediately, but shortly after its passage a joint resolution extended the time sixty days.

GIRL ASSAULTED, MAN HELD HERE FEARS VIOLENCE

hounds were also put on his trail, but the man escaped.

Unable to make a lucid statement, Saylor has changed his story fully a dozen times since he was arrested. When told that the sheriff and Miss Ott were coming to Washington to see if they could identify him, he said: "Thank God; they would kill me if that crowd up there got after me."

One of the most significant questions asked by the man, the police say, was when he inquired if anyone else besides the girl could identify the man. When told that his photograph had been identified, Saylor closed his eyes and had to steady himself with his hand on the cell bars to keep from falling to the floor. He has made so many contradictory statements that the police attach no credence to anything he says.

Surgeon Examined Him.

The prisoner was examined yesterday afternoon by Police Surgeon Richards. Dr. Richards reported that on the second joint of the fourth finger of the right hand he found a sore that had evidently been inflicted by a bite, and the indentations of the teeth were still visible. There was a slight mark on the back of the left wrist. Two marks like nail scratches were found on the right arm above the elbow.

In the description sent out by the West Virginia authorities it was stated that Miss Ott bit her assailant on one of the fingers of the right hand. The other marks, Dr. Richards stated, were evidently inflicted during a fight with a woman or some weaker person, who had used both teeth and nails during the struggle.

To a Times reporter Saylor said last night that he had been in Washington for four weeks. To the police he said he had been here about two weeks, and later said it was only ten days. He is unable to say where he has been stopping or give the names of any friends or relatives.

Statement of Man.

"A man by the name of McCafferty or McCafferty knows me, and knows I have been in Washington for some time," he asserted.

Questioned about this man, Saylor said that he lived in the vicinity of Fourth and L streets northeast. He has made no direct denial of the assault, further than asserting that he was in Washington at the time. He says he formerly worked in Cumberland, and that he is familiar with that section of the country.

Saylor is a powerful man more than six feet tall. He has short, curly sandy hair. His clothes are rough and a two weeks' growth of beard adds to his unkempt appearance.

TERRA COTTA PILE FALLS ON SLEEPING MAN; UNHURT

NEW YORK, June 29.—Charles Walden, thirty-four years of age, of 345 Sixth street, lay asleep in his truck in Stryker's Farm, West Fifty-second street, this morning beside a pile of terra cotta tiling, twenty-five feet tall. In some way the pile of material became disturbed and toppled over on the driver. He yelled and brought some of the night owls and policemen to his assistance. Patrolman McKnight had him taken to Roosevelt Hospital by Dr. Gordon, where it was found that he was not seriously injured.

STRIKE IS ENDED ON CITY BUILDING; RESUME TOMORROW

Contractor Parsons Terminates Trouble by Barring Non-Union Plumbers.

Organized Mechanics Plan to Follow Up Advantage in Other Cases.

If the weather is fair tomorrow morning when the 7:30 o'clock whistle blows for work to start, every union man who was at work on the new Municipal building prior to the strike that tied up that structure Friday, will pick up his tools and resume his work as if nothing had happened to take them from their jobs.

This satisfactory condition resulted from the determined steps taken by Contractor James L. Parsons, who personally stationed himself at the gate of the work yesterday morning and refused to permit the non-union plumbers of James Nolan & Sons to enter the building after Nolan & Sons had declined to withdraw their men.

Will Press Advantage.

Fair weather will mean more than this, the members of the executive board of the Building Trades Mechanics' Council say. They declare that if it is possible for bricklayers and other building trades mechanics to go to work they will see to it that a strike is put in force on every structure where union men have been locked out by the Employers' Association.

There was a conference last night at Costello's hall between the master bricklayers and the executive committee of the union bricklayers, which lasted for three hours. None of the participants in the conference would announce the result of the meeting nor its purpose, but it was evident that its object was one on the part of the master bricklayers to induce the journeymen bricklayers to go back to work.

Walter Bowen, international president of the bricklayers' union, arrived in Washington from Philadelphia last night. It is understood that he comes to the Capital at the request of the Master Builders' Association in the hope that he will aid in adjusting the existing difficulties.

It was said last night that the managers of the Building Trades Mechanics' Council will take steps tomorrow morning to push the strike against one of the Washington contractors who already has several buildings tied up here by asking union labor erecting a big job for him in Frederick, Md., to come off the work. They say that they have the assurance that the men will comply with the request.

To Push Strike Against One.

It was rumored last night that work on the rebuilding of the Academy of Music would be fully resumed tomorrow morning with union men, but this could not be verified. Manager Rapley, who is in charge of the rebuilding of the theater, when seen last night said he knew nothing of the report. He said that he wanted to see that work go ahead and the building completed, as provided for by contract in time for the opening of the coming theatrical season, and that he would like to see the work done by skilled union men, but that he had no control over Prescott & Co., the contractors.

MURDERED GIRL'S MOTHER DENOUNCES POLICE AT GRAVE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Disgraceful scenes marked the funeral of little Viola Boylan, the coffin was nearly knocked down. Ten policemen were powerless to keep order.

"It's all your fault," screamed the child's mother, shaking her finger at the bluecoats as she reached her carriage. "If you had helped me when I asked you, my baby'd be alive today."

The crowd took up the cry and threats were freely made, but no violence attempted.

Alfonso Niancia, a suspect arrested in the case, was to have been brought to the Boylan home for possible identification as one of the men near the house about the hour Viola disappeared. But Police Captain Walsh objected, as he held the exposure of Niancia to the mob's violence would be criminal.

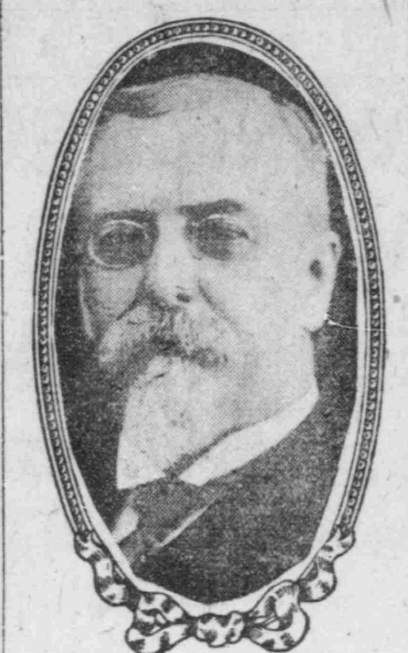

HIGH MILK PRICES ARE NOW EXPECTED

That the recommendations of the Milk Commission for pure milk, and for absolute sanitation in the dairies supplying the city with milk will result in higher milk prices is realized by members of the commission. Not only do they realize this, but they want the public to realize it also. They believe that the people should be prepared to pay slightly increased prices for milk when, in return, they will be assured of freedom from the danger of bad milk.

This inevitable increase in milk prices will come from the milk producers and dealers having to bear added expenses in order to meet the strict regulations that will become the rule when the recommendations of the commission are put into effect.

Dairies will have to be better equipped. The stables in which the cows are housed will have to be built and maintained in a more expensive manner, and the transportation of milk will have to be done in a way that will cost more, while it will also further remove the probability of infection during removal from place to place.

PUBLIC PRINTER NAMES DEPUTY

CAPT. H. T. BRIAN, Chief Clerk in G. P. O., Who Becomes Deputy Public Printer on July 1.

Chief Clerk Will Be Promoted to Important Post Tomorrow.

The Public Printer yesterday afternoon announced the appointment of Capt. H. T. Brian, chief clerk, to the position of deputy public printer, which office was created by Congress during the last session upon the recommendation of Mr. Stillings. The appointment takes effect tomorrow, when the office of chief clerk is abolished.

Captain Brian entered the Government Printing Office in September, 1887, as a compositor, and served four years in the typographical divisions, finally reaching the post of foreman of printing which position he held for thirty years. Upon the death of W. H. Collins, then chief clerk of the Government Printing Office, Public Printer Palmer appointed Captain Brian (then foreman of printing) to the position of chief clerk which he has occupied up to the present time.

The office of deputy public printer carries with it a salary of $5,000 per annum; the salary of chief clerk was $2,500 per annum.

The chief inspector, Edward S. Moore, has his designation changed from "chief inspector" to "chief inspector and purchasing agent," a change in title and duties made by Congress, the salary of which has hitherto been paid from appropriations for public printing and binding carried in the sundry civil act. Other changes announced by the Public Printer to take effect on July 1 are in obedience to the legislation enacted at the last session and removed a great many officials and employees from the rolls paid from the appropriations in the sundry civil act, to the rolls paid from the appropriations in the legislative, executive and judicial act which fixes the salaries and number of employees for specific duties.

The entire list of employees included in the legislative, executive, and judicial act, as affected by this new legislation, which becomes effective tomorrow, is as follows:

Horne, H. Gillman, stenographer; Walter E. Bennett, cashier and paymaster; Edward J. Wilver, paying teller; Arthur H. Johnson, messenger; Miss Mable A. McNamara, telephone switchboard operator; Miss Doyl Prather, second assistant telephone switchboard operator.

Edward S. Moore, chief inspector and purchasing agent; Frederick W. Moore, clerk of class I; William L. Post, superintendent of documents; Alton P. Tisdol, principal clerk; Benjamin F. Constantine, foreman of printing; Richard C. McAuley, foreman of presswork; Richard B. Harlow, captain of the watch; George Wheeler and John A. Barr, lieutenants of the watch.

The salaries of positions hitherto carried in the legislative, executive, and judicial act for the Government Printing Office amounted to a total of $15,650; under the legislative, executive, and judicial act for 1909 the total salaries amount to $20,750.

It may also be added that Congress, showing its appreciation of the work done by Mr. Stillings in placing the Government Printing Office on a systematic basis and in establishing a thorough business organization, increased his salary, commencing July 1, from $4,500 to $5,500 per annum. The salary of the foreman of binding has been increased from $2,100 to $2,500 per annum.

A popular increase in salary under the new order is that which goes to "Andy" Smith, congressional record clerk, who receives $2,500, instead of $2,000.

Another change made by Congress which becomes effective July 1 is the reduction of the number of lieutenants of the watch force from five to two. Hitherto the printing office has had one captain of the watch and five lieutenants of the watch, whose duties covered the three eight-hour shifts, there being two officers on duty with each shift.

GOVERNOR SMITH AT GEORGIA HELM

ATLANTA, Ga., June 28.—At high noon today and in the presence of 10,000 of his fellow Georgians, including the general assembly, sitting in joint session, members of the supreme court of the State, all the official family of the State government, and hundreds of those prominent in civil life, Hoke Smith was inducted into the office of governor of the State.

As a fitting close to the day's ceremonies, Governor Smith and Mrs. Smith gave a reception at the executive mansion, which began at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and ended at 10 o'clock this evening.

GAY YOUNG WIDOW SIREN FOR TUCKER. WIFE'S FRIENDS SAY

school mistress' claim to an intimate friendship with the Tucker family is absurd and that, so far as they know, Mrs. Tucker has never seen the woman. One of the physicians who attended little George Tucker during his fatal illness says that the school teacher was never at his bedside.

Quiet Investigation Made.

While Colonel Tucker was in San Francisco on his return from the Philippines a relative of Mrs. Tucker, who was in California at the time, heard the rumors about his relations with the school teacher. This relative immediately came to San Francisco and started a quiet investigation. It is said that much of the information which was laid before the War Department when an inquiry into Colonel Tucker's private life was asked, was obtained by this relative.

It is alleged that Colonel Tucker went to Portland, Ore., after leaving San Francisco, and rumor has it that the school teacher went to Portland at the same time. Since Colonel Tucker left Oregon and took up his duties as paymaster at Chicago, the school mistress has dropped out of sight.

Col. Tucker Declines To Answer Charges Brought by Woman

CHICAGO, June 28.—Whatever the nature of the charges said to have been preferred by Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the famous civil war general, against her son-in-law, Lieut. Col. William F. Tucker, now chief paymaster of the Department of the Lakes, stationed at Chicago, the colonel declines absolutely to talk about them or his case.

"I am an army officer and a gentleman," he said today regarding the published report that the War Department had received from Mrs. Logan certain allegations concerning his conduct while assigned to the Philippines. "I cannot answer any charges made against me by a woman," he added.

Mrs. Tucker Refuses To Discuss Trouble Or Frisco Report

Mrs. William F. Tucker, when seen at the residence of her mother, Mrs. John A. Logan, wife of the noted war general, last night, declined to discuss any portion of the dispatch from San Francisco. She repeated her disinclination to make any statement concerning the case.

THIEVES CAUGHT ROBBING WOMEN OF POCKETBOOKS

Their pictures and descriptions will be sent broadcast to learn if they are wanted in any other cities. According to the story told by the two men, they passed through Washington last Saturday and their way to Jamestown. Cards and circulars found in their possession indicated that they had visited the exposition. They claimed to have arrived in Washington Friday night, and the police believe they came here from Pittsburgh. There was also evidence that they visited Chicago, New York, and St. Louis.

The police say that the presence of the two crooks in Washington may have some connection with the robbery of Roscoe E. Bangs, a bank messenger, who was relieved of a wallet containing more than $1,000 on a street car last Monday, although there is no evidence to corroborate that theory. The police argue, however, that their work is similar in every respect to the manner in which Bangs was robbed. Bangs will probably visit the prisoners to see if he can identify them.

Suspected of Other Robberies.

William E. Scott, of Twining City, reported to the police yesterday the loss of $10 while at the Baltimore and Ohio station Friday night. The money was taken from his pocket by two men who jostled him as he was alighting from a train. Isaacson and Lieberman, the police description given by Scott, and from their own statement they were at the station at about the time he was robbed.

The detectives say the manner in which the men were operating at the market yesterday afternoon indicated that they are crooks well trained in the profession.

Died.

HACKETT—On Thursday, June 27, 1907, ANNE E. nee Huth, beloved wife of A. S. Hackett, in the thirty-seventh year of her age.

Funeral Sunday, June 30, at 2:30 o'clock P. M. from her late residence, 223 G street northeast. Friends and relatives invited to attend. LACE ROSE, 9200-21.

In Memoriam

DOWNY—In sad and loving remembrance of our dear friend, THOMAS DOWNY, who died one year ago today.

In a far-off, distant graveyard, Where the trees their branches wave, Lies our beloved father and also our Beloved mother, whom God taking From us in such a short time, only Eleven months and six days did our Loving mother stay with us.

After God taking her from us, But father loved her so he could Not rest without her late and mother In one year rest in the cold silent grave. Their eyes are closed that looked on life Through mist of pain and tears. But God has offered them a home To smile through endless years. To them all things are glad. But you're left the bitterness. Be as gentle as your love. And when God calls mamma home, May we meet in heaven above. —By His Broken-hearted Mother.

WHEELER—In memory of BERNARD W. WHEELER, who died three months ago today.

In the graveyard, softly sleeping, Where the flowers gently wave, Lies the one I loved so dearly In his lonely, silent grave. Farewell, dear Bernard; may your slumbers Be as gentle as your love; And when God calls mamma home, May we meet in heaven above. —By His Broken-hearted Mother.
